David Yarosh's practice is devoted to the handling of large property subrogation cases, including fire, products liability and construction defect matters throughout the United States. David has tried several cases to verdict before courts and juries throughout the State of Minnesota and elsewhere. David's subrogation success against a major vehicle manufacturer has resulted in opportunities to serve as co-counsel in other complex vehicle fire cases across the country.

David has long been an advocate of the Alternative Dispute Resolution process, as he has presided over nearly 300 cases as a no-fault arbitrator for the American Arbitration Association. More recently, David became a Qualified Neutral under Rule 114 of the Minnesota Rules of General Practice, allowing David to pursue his interest in mediating cases for others as his career continues to advance.

As a member of the National Association of Subrogation Professionals (NASP) since its inception, David has also been a frequent presenter on other subrogation topics here in Minnesota and at several national NASP conferences over the years.
